

JESUS RAMOS TRAINING CAMP NOTES

“I expect a fun fight while it lasts. We both have power, so don’t expect it to go the distance.”

Hard-Hitting Contender Jesus Ramos Takes On Johan Gonzalez Topping PBC on Prime Video Prelims Stream this Saturday, May 4 from T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS – April 29, 2024 – Hard-hitting super welterweight contender Jesus “Mono” Ramos talked training camp, rebounding from defeat and more as he nears his showdown against Johan Gonzalez topping PBC on Prime Video action this Saturday, May 4 from T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas.

The live streaming presentation begins at 6 p.m. ET/3 p.m. PT and also features rising contender Vito Mielnicki Jr. battling L.A.’s Ronald Cruz in a 10-round fight kicking off the stream.

These bouts will lead into a four-fight PBC Pay-Per-View on Prime Video beginning at 8 p.m. ET/5 p.m. PT as Canelo Promotions presents a Cinco de Mayo weekend blockbuster featuring pound-for-pound great Canelo Álvarez putting his undisputed super middleweight world title on the line against unbeaten all-action former world champion Jaime Munguía in the main event.

In addition to the PPV being available for purchase on Prime Video, regardless of Prime membership, fans will also be able to purchase the PPV via DAZN.com. On top of those options, fans will also be able to continue to access the telecast through traditional cable and satellite outlets, including PPV.com

Tickets for the live event are on sale now at AXS.com. The event is promoted by Canelo Promotions and TGB Promotions, in association with Golden Boy Promotions and Zanfer Boxing Promotions.

Here is what Ramos had to say ahead of Saturday's matchup:

On his training camp for Gonzalez:

"I feel really good. I feel strong. We made the necessary adjustments to improve from my last fight. I feel strong and just excited to be back. We are handling things differently this camp and implementing new elements into my game that we weren't doing last camp. We are still working hard, but also preparing mentally and adding strategic pieces and I'm just excited to put it all together on fight night."

On bouncing back from a close decision loss to Erickson Lubin in his last fight:

"I don't think it was my best night, but I still felt like I did enough to pull it off. Obviously, it wasn't my best performance and I'm aware of that, but I felt like it was enough to win. I was the one in control the whole fight, pushing him back, landing more punches. Some of the rounds that I felt I did the most effective work; they gave it to him. I was disappointed obviously, but I'm going to show in this fight that it was just a bump in the road. The journey continues and I'm not going to stop until I'm a world champion."

On earning a Lubin rematch:

"Yes, I would like a rematch with Lubin. Against Gonzalez, I have to show that there's levels to this sport, and he's not at my level. I have to prove myself and show that I don't need a tune up fight or an easier fight. I just need to just keep progressing. I shouldn't be taking steps back; I should keep moving forward."

On his May 4 opponent Johan Gonzalez:

"I know he hits hard. He has 33 knockouts in his 34 wins, so he has some pop. I know he's going to come forward and he's going to try to pressure me. I expect that. I expect a fun fight while it lasts. We both have power, so don't expect it to go the distance."

On fighting on a blockbuster Cinco de Mayo weekend event:

"I'm really motivated to be fighting on Cinco de Mayo weekend and really blessed to be back on a Canelo undercard. I'm just excited. I feel like the same people that were at my last fight on the Canelo-Charlo undercard are going to be there and watching on May 4. I have to demonstrate that my last performance wasn't who I am. It wasn't my best performance and I'm kind of in debt with them in that aspect."
